

Famous Clown Here This Week

Since then, he's been with the biggest circuses. The Sells Floto show is now paying him the highest salary ever paid any clown with any circus.

Marceline, world famous clown. Suppose somebody asked you this one: "Do you know any clown by name?" First off, you'd make a couple of bright remarks about some of your friends, wouldn't you? And then you'd admit, seriously, that you don't know any real circus clown by name. And then, suppose you were asked: "Why, don't you know of Marceline?" You'd look foolish, wouldn't you, and say, "of course?" There are few people who haven't heard of Marceline. There are a few who haven't seen him—some of these few will have the chance tomorrow and Tuesday when they can see the Sells-Floto circus, which will be showing those two afternoons and night at the circus grounds at Fifteenth and H street northeast. Marceline is one of the clowns—in fact, he is the featured clown of the whole array. Marceline has been clowning some thirty-five years. He gained his first big reputation at the London Hippodrome and then duplicated the success at the New York Hippodrome, where he gained his American reputation.
